CHAPEL HILL.

On Wednesday week at 12 o'clock, M. rof. Brantly Fork, of Ruffin Badger Institute, delivered a lecture in the College hapel, to a good audience. His theme as education, which was handled by him a masterly manner. Many valuable sugestions in reference to school teaching ere given by the Professor, calculated to wake and stir up both teacher and scholar. he Professor has been lecturing for many ears upon the subject of education, and to im is North Carolina greatly indebted for is zeal and untiring energy in this cause. His remarks were interspersed with little ncidents which have occurred in his presnce during his travels; and also incidents elated to him by others: showing to what n extent the English language has been mproperly used. The lecture of Prof. ork was very much admired and appreiated by all those who heard it. Next Wednesday, the 19th, there will be anoth- Lecture delivered in the College Chapel t 10 o'clock, M. by Capt. Denson, Princial of Pittsboro Scientific Academy. We will be pleased to see any of our Hillsboro' friends who may feel disposed to attend. We promise you something good as the Captain is a good lecturer. DELTA.

PRESIDENT'S OFFICE. N. C. R. R. CO.

Company Shops, N. C., May 18, 1869.

To the Stockholders of the N. C. R. R. Co,

GENTLEMEN: At the next Annual Meeting of the N. C. R. R Co., a question of great interest will be presented to your consideration; and in view of the weighty responsibility that will rest upon you in determining that question, would it not be well for us to reason together, and thus to prepare our minds for a proper decision. For be assured, there never has been a period in the history of the North Carolina Rail Road Company more pregnant with evil to the road than this great question of consolidating the Atlantic and North Carolina Rail Road with the North Carolina Rail Road Company. To analyze this question, and to present it in all of its deformity and nakedness, would be to consume more space than this communication would allow. Therefore, we propose to present only a few plain pointed objections, which we regard as conclusive, and cannot be easily controverted.

First. This project originated with the property holders of Morehead City, and the creditors of the Atlantic and North Carolina Rail Road. They fear if the A. & N. C. Rail road is left to itself that it will never be able to pay the debt it owes, and will be finally sold for less than the debt, thereby causing its creditors to lose largely. Here then we find the key which unlocks this movement—a movement conceived for sinister purposes, and not the "broad, patriotic, State pride" movement, the advocates of consolidation would have you to believe it to be. Certainly the stockholders of this Company cannot—yea, would not blame these gentlemen for trying to save their debt in a legitimate way. Yet would it not be rashness, yea, folly in the extreme, for them to involve the North Carolina Rail Road Company (now prosperous) with the debts of the Atlantic & N. C. Rail Road Company, by consolidation. But the friends of consolidation say they only wish to consolidate according to the relative value of the stock of each Company—grant the assumption—this Company would be the loser if it were to accept the A. & N. C. Rail Road as a free gift, and be compelled to keep it in good running order.

At the last session of the General Assembly of North Carolina a bill was passed allowing the stockholders to consolidate if they thought proper. This consolidation act could never have passed upon its own merits—it was forced through by being attached to the great omnibus Rail Road schemes. If you will examine this bill carefully, and compare it with the original charter of this Company you will see at once, that if we were ever so anxious to consolidate, we could not think of such a thing under the present act. See for a moment. It wipes out all of your original rights, and dictates what per cent. shall be charged, "and no other," upon articles sent over the road. It is plain to see that no freights will ever reach Morehead City under that law, and no through freight would ever pass beyond Greensborough. With the complications attending this road if it is in the least restricted to a certain per cent. and "no other," you would soon discover that its income would not be sufficient to keep it up and pay the interest on its debt. In fact, it would soon be as far below par as the Atlantic Road is now.

I see by a circular recently issued that the Mr. Stanly has called an electioneering meeting at Newbern on the 2d of June. Doubtless every artifice will be resorted to, to get your consent to consolidation. Your proxies will be vigilantly sought after, and every argument of a drowning man will be brought to bear to beg you to consolidate your road with theirs, which only means to help them pay their debts and keep up their road. If you are opposed to consolidation I would warn you to be careful with whom you confide as a proxy. If the opponents of consolidation stand firm, we can defeat them by a large majority, and thus save our road from destruction.

Freights and passengers are gradually increasing, and our through connections will soon extend to Atlanta, Ga. When this takes place your road will pay you a handsome dividend, and your stock will go to par. But if you consolidate all is lost, and we will have to depend entirely on way stations for support.

W. A. SMITH, President.

THE BEAUTIFUL JULIA.

A FACT.

I knew the beautiful Julia L——, when in the bloom of her seventeenth summer. She was beautiful, amiable, accomplished. Her form was the very symbol of grace, and in her dark liquid eye, there was a heavenly charm that captivated the soul. The burning words that fell from her lips of love, contained in them the very poetry of sounds; and often have I hung over her at the piano, entranced by sounds, sweet as when the angels string their golden harps.

Never had I heard a voice so soft, and so sweet, so melodious. It was like the faint notes of an Æolean harp, breathing over the bosom of a moon-lit lake. But the beautiful, the fascinating Julia, was led away by the love of dress, which brought on a pulmonary disease. I saw her when the rose had faded on her cheek, and the brilliancy of her eye had departed. Though changed, she was still beautiful! I bowed down at her feet and spoke of returning health and of the roses that should again bloom on her cheek; but she laid her fair hand upon her heart, and shook her head. I can still see the expression of her countenance! Every day brought intelligence that the lovely flower—that she whom every one loved, was fading. At length she grew better. I was rejoiced! A few days after, in the happy belief that she was recovering, I was playing on the violin, I heard a gentle step at my door—it was my mother. She entered and sorrowfully said, "poor Julia is gone—she is dead!" The sound came like a thunder bolt to my heart; the musical instrument fell from my hand, and I burst into tears, repeating my mother's words—poor Julia is gone—she is dead!

I stood by the vault, and saw the once beautiful Julia entombed. It was a mournful moment, for all who knew her, loved her. Time rolled on. The seasons changed—spring came with her beautiful flowers, but the lovely Julia, the sweetest flower of them all, was seen no more.

Eight years passed away on the wings of time. Again I stood by that vault which was opened to receive another. I was seized with an irresistible desire to see once more the beautiful being. I unscrewed once more the lid of the coffin—there she lay—the shroud was gone, and the face was full, though of a dark hue. I could almost recognize the lineament of former loveliness. I was musing upon the mutability of happiness, when a blast of air swept the ashes from the face and left nothing but a ghastly skull before me. God of mercy! I involuntarily exclaimed, is this the once beautiful Julia! A voice from the silent city of the dead seemed to answer—"This is the end of beauty—this is the conclusion of human hopes and human grandeur!"—unclasped the hands which were crossed upon the once fair and beautiful bosom; and as I held the cold relict in my own, I asked myself if this could be the once white hand which danced so delightfully over the keys of the piano, and woke the entrancing sounds of music. I turned away from the remains of the lovely one and wept, till the sound of approaching mourners aroused me.

NOVEL MODE OF APPLYING LEECHES.

During the mania for leeches which prevailed some years ago in France, a country doctor in Brittany had ordered some to be applied to one of his patients suffering from a sore throat. On calling to see the effect of his remedy the first person he met, on entering the house, was the peasant's wife.

"Well, my good woman," said the doctor; "how is your husband to-day? better, no doubt?

"Oh, yes, surely!" answered the woman, "he is as well as ever and gone to the field.'

"I thought so," continued Monsieur Docteur, "the leeches have cured him? Wonderful effect they have! you have got the leeches of course?

Oh, yes, Monsieur Docteur, they did him a great deal of good, though he could not take them all."

"Take them all" cried our friend, "why how did you apply them?"

"Oh, I managed nicely," said the wife, looking quite contented with herself; for variety's sake I boiled one half and made a fry of the other. The first he got down very well, but they made him sick. But what he took was quite enough," continued she, seeing some horror in the doctor's countenance, for he was better the next morning, and to-day he is quite well."

"Umph!" said the doctor, with a sapient shake of the head, if they have cured him that is sufficient; but they would have been better applied externally."

SINGULAR WILL.—An English miser, John Fleech, lately died in London, leaving the following will: I give and bequeath to my niece the flannel waistcoat I now wear; I give and bequeath to my sister's grand children one of the earthern pots on the top of my wardrobe; finally, I give and bequeath to my sister, as a last token of affection I have always felt for her, the brown stone jug at the head of my bed. The disappointment of the legatees, when this strange will was read, may easily be imagined. The deceased was spoken of by all in a way by no means flattering to him, and his sister, in a fit of anger, gave the brown jug, her legacy, a kick which broke it in pieces; when lo! a complete stream of guineas poured out of it, and the general disappointment gave way to joy. Each hurried to examine his or her legacy, and the flannel waistcoat and little earthen pots were found equally well filled, the testator having only wished to cause them an agreeable surprise.

A GENEROUS DEED FULLY APPRECIATED.—The Honorable Theophilus Lisle Dickey, Assistant Attorney General of the United States, while engaged in conversation yesterday with Congressman Charles E. Eldrige, of Wisconsin, in front of the Metropolitan Hotel, was approached by a female, who, placing her hand upon the gentleman's shoulder, demanded five cents as a gift of charity, by which she could reach her home at Alexandria. The Hon. Mr. Dickey at once responded, with the remark that the supplicant had exactly measured his ability. He gave her all he had—five cents. Holding the metalic specimen in the palm of her hand, and with a look from her Madonna like eyes that indicated an abiding faith in her expression, she remarked, "Sir, you must be a rebel." "Why?" exclaimed the astonished benefactor. "Because, sir, others are not governed by such generous impulses," was the quick reply, and in an instant the woman, the lady of perception and no doubt the lady of other more prosperous days, was lost to sight. All who witnessed the scene were deeply impressed, and Eldridge, with the natural love for devotion to the right, failed not to convey a moral from the circumstance.

HOW "DIXIE" BECAME THE "MARSEILLAISE" OF THE WAR.

From the Memphis Post.

In the first place, the song and chorus of "Dixie" was composed and arranged by Dan. Emmet, a member of a traveling minstrel party, who, while at Mobile, in the winter of 1147-8, heard some negro laborers singing on the levee while loading a steamboat with cotton. The thought struck Dan. that, with a little change of measure, it could be made a good song "walk around," which generally winds up a negro minstrel concert? Dan. arranged it and produced it. It became a success, and was sung and played all over the country by all the bands.

In the spring of 1861, Mrs. John Wood came to New Orleans to play an engagement at the Varieties Theater. During the time, she appeared in Brougham's burlesque of Pocahontas. At the first rehearsal of the piece everything went well till near the close of the second act; Tom McDonough (now agent for the Leffingwell,) the prompter, got up a Zouave march and drill by 22 ladies, led by Susan Denin. Everything run smooth, but the music for the march could not be fixed upon. Carlo Patti was leader of the orchestra and he tried several marches, but none suited McDonough—one was too slow, another was too tame, another not enough spirit. At length Patti struck up the negro air of "Dixie." "That will do, Patti—the very thing," said Tom, and "Dixie" was played and the march gone through with, and the chorus by all the characters. At night it received a double encore, and Pocahontas had a "run," and from that time out the streets and parlors rang with "Dixie." The war broke out that spring, and the military bands took it up, and "Dixie" became to the South what the Marseillaise Hymn was to the French. And that's how "Dixie" became the popular war song of the South.

LIVE CATTLE WEIGHED BY MEASURE.—The only instrument necessary is a measure with feet and inch marks upon it. The girth is the circumference of the animal just behind the shoulder blades. The superficial feet are obtained by multiplying the girth and length. The following table contains the rule to ascertain the weight of the animal:

If less than one foot in girth, multiply superficial feet by eight.

If less than three and more than one, multiply superficial feet by eleven.

If less than five and more than three, multiply superficial feet by sixteen.

If less than seven and more than five, multiply superficial feet by twenty-five.

If less than nine and more than seven, multiply superficial feet by thirty-three.

If less than eleven and more than nine, multiply superficial feet by forty-two.

Example—Suppose the girth of a bullock to be six feet three inches; length five feet six inches; the superficial area will then be thirty four, and in accordance with preceding table the weight will be seven hundred and eighty-two pounds.

Example—Suppose a pig to measure in girth two feet, and length one foot and nine inches. There would be three and a half feet, which, multipled by eleven, gives thirty-eight and a half pounds as the weight of the animal when dressed. In this way the weight of four quarters can be substantially ascertained during life.

REQUIREMENTS FOR THE STAGE.

Miss Olive Logan in a letter to the "Times" defends the remarks she made about the stage in her speech on Wednesday night. She says: "I referred the other night to decent young women who are not celebrities—merely honest, modest girls, whose parents have left them the not very desirable heritage of the stage, and who find it difficult to obtain any other employment, being uneducated for any other. When these girls go into a theatre to apply for a situation now, they find that the requirements of managers are expressed in the following questions:"

First—"Is your hair dyed yellow?"

Second—"Are your legs, arms and bosom symmetrically formed, and are you willing to expose them?"

Third—"Can you sing brassy songs, and dance the can-can, and wink at men, and give utterance to disgusting half words which mean whole actions?"

Fourth—"Are you acquainted with any rich men who will throw you flowers, and send you presents, and keep afloat dubious rumors concerning your chastity?"

Fifth—"Are you willing to appear to-night, and every night, amid the glare of gaslights and before the gaze of thousands of men, in this pair of satin breeches ten inches long, without a vestige of drapery on your person?

"If you can answer these question affirmatively, we will give you a situation. If not, there's the door."

For myself, I left the stage four years ago to pursue literature. With writing and lecturing I am able to earn a decent and dignified livelihood. I am very thankful I can do so, but my own private affairs are not my sole concern, and "what I see, I say."

From the Richmond Enquirer and Examiner.

WE WONDER.

Suppose Dr. Harris were to come to Richmond to consult with Governor Wells about the canvass, the idea has occurred to us—we wonder whether Wells would invite him to tea, or give him a bed at the Governor's House. We are not in their secrets, but we often wonder how they manage these things: whether Lewis Lindsay ever dines on the Capitoline? whether Cox and the Governor ever play croquet together? whether these people—Wells & Co.—ever go to the African church? whether they dance the Round Dance together? We had a foolish dream the other night—Thought we were passing the Maison Doree, and heard music—looked through a broken pane—and saw Governor Wells and Mrs. Lindsay just balancing for a start to the tune of

"Folks, won't you go!
Folks, won't you go!"

The Princess Louise, daughter of Queen Victoria, is to be married on the 27th of July next to the Prince Royal of Denmark. This will leave the Queen only one unmarried daughter, the Princess Beatrice.

SUM NATRAL HISTORY.

BY JOSH BILLINGS.

FLEAS.—The smallest animal of the brute creation, and the most pesky, iz the fleas. They are about the bigness ov an onion-seed, and shine like a bran new shot.

They spring from low places, and can spring further and faster than enny of the bug brutes.

They bite wus than the muskeetoze, for they bite on a run; one flea will go aul over a man's suburbs, in 2 minnits, and leave him as freckled as the measles.

It is impossible to do anything well with a flea on you, except sware, and fleas ain't afraid of that; the only way is to quit bizness ov aul kinds and hunt for the flea, and when you have found him he ain't there. This is one of the flea mysteries, the fakulty they have of being entirely lost jist as you have found them.

I don't suppose there is ever killed, on an average, during enny one year, more than 16 fleas in the whole of the United States ov America, unless there is a casualty ov some kind—once in a while thare is a dog gets drowned sudden, and then thare may be a few fleas lost.

They are about az hard to kill az flax seed iz, and if you don't mash them as fine as ground pepper they will start bizness on a smaller kapital jist as pestiverous as ever.

Thare iz lots ov people who have never seen a flea, and it takes a pretty smart man to see one ennyhow; they don't stay long in a place.

If you ever ketch a flea, kill him before yo du ennything else; for if yo du put it off 2 minnits, it may be too late.

Menny a flea has passed away forever in less thau 2 minnits.

BED BUGS.—I never seen ennybody yet but what dispized bed bugs. They are the meanest ov aul crawling, creeping, hopping, or biting things.

They dosen't takle a man by dalite, but sneak in after dark, and chaw him while he iz fast asleep.

A muskeeto will fight you in broad dalite at short range, and give you a fair chance to knock in his sides—the flea is a game bug, and will make a dash at you even in Broadway, but the bed bug is a garroter, who waits till you strip, and then picks out a mellow place tew eat you.

If I was in the habit of swearing, I wouldn't hesitate tew cuss a bed bug rite tew his face.

Bed bugs are uncommon smart in a small way, one pair ov them will stock a hair mattress in 2 weeks with bugs enuff tew last a small family for a whole year.

It don't do enny good to pray when bed bugs are in season; the only way tew get rid of them is tew bile the whole bed in acquafortis, and then heave it away and buy a new one.

Bed bugs, when they have grone aul they intend to, are about the size of a bluejay's eye, and have a brown complexion, and when they start out to garrote are az a greese spot, but when they get thru garroting they are swelled up like a blister.

It takes them two days to git the swelling out ov them.

If bed bugs have enny destiny to fill it must be their stummucks, but it seems to me that they must have been made by accident, just as slivers are, tew stick into sumboddy.

If they wuz got up for some wise purpose they must have took the wrong road, for there kant be enny wisdum in chawing a man aul nite long, and raising a family besides, to follow the same trade.

If there is sum wisdum in aul this, I hope the bed bugs will chew them folks who kan see it, and leaves me be, because I am one of the hereticks.

A WESTERN STORY.—A New Albany (Ind.) paper tells the following: "A family living in the neighborhood of Millersville, Marion county, has a male and female head and two full sets of children. The other morning the old man, leading in family prayer, requested the Lord to take especial care of his children, but failed to put in a good word for those of his wife. This led to words between them, which ended in the old lady picking up a fire-shovel and hitting pater familias a sound whack over the head, which laid open his scalp about four inches. Since that time there is no discrimination in favor of his own children in family prayer."

Delphia, Indiana, has a model judge who is 4 feet 2 inches high, 5 feet 1 inch round, and weighs 400 pounds.

Dangerous navigation is doubly dangerous in doubling the "cape" of a pretty coquette.

UNIVERSITY.

We have already published two communications on this theme. Notwithstanding, we would publish an article on the same from Iredell—but its length and, (we think,) too much personality prevent. It would but make us enemies, without doing any real good. And God knows there is a desire within us to "live at peace with all men."

VIRGINIA.

The Conservative Executive Committee of this State are out in a resolution exhorting the county and district canvassers to redoubled exertions in the approaching contest. We notice that the gallant Boycox has girded himself for the fight. But we fear that with all the manly effort of her true and tried and talented, she will not be able to lift herself from the dust. "The world has grown so bad that wrens do prey where eagles dare not perch."

AN ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

For the handsome encomium passed upon ourself and our paper by the Wilmington Journal, we are grateful. With but one printer to aid us in getting the paper out, our work is heavy and hard, But with such a compliment coming from so honorable a source, our energies are made to brighten up and the pot starts to boiling—meat or no meat!

RAG MAN AND I.

We have often thought how we'd do were we to visit Gen. Grant for an office. The thing bothered us. So last night we made a rag man and concluded to call on it for General Grant. We marched straight up to it, took our hat off, and bringing the right hand up to the side of the head, palm open to the front—we saluted. We made the rag man nod.

Then placing the hollow of the right foot 3 inches in rear of the heel of the left, we turned on both heels and—about faced. We heard the rag man chuckle.

We began to mark time. The rag man cleared his throat.

Stepping off, brisk and firm, full 38 inches on the left foot, we were marching straight out of the room when—the rag man cried, "halt!" we halted, "about face!" and we faced to the front.

Who are you?
Tar Heel.
What wanted?
Office.
Break ranks, march!

And as we marched out we thought we could see the rag man putting the sealing wax on a paper that was going to be sent to us. We had pleased him.

ADVERTISING.

A great many people act like blockheads about this thing. They tie their purse strings to their money box and put all their faith on a shingle and lampblack. Who is goose enough to say that advertising doesn't pay? Why take a few instances.

A gentleman of this place told us Mr. —— was in town. How do you know? Why—said he—there is his sulky before my door; you sent him to me. (A week or two previous we had in one line stated that our friend was willing to entertain travelers, and now here was a man from over in another county where this paper circulates!) Take another.

Geo. L. Herring & Co., of Richmond, advertised in this paper to the amount of eight dollars. We know that this house made a bill of near two hundred dollars out of one subscriber to this paper. And there is that star among hotels—the BALLARD HOUSE in Richmond—we have given it the benefit of our ink on more than one occasion. A gentleman and his lady (subscriber to this paper and from this place) visited Richmond for the first time last month and stopped at the Ballard House—and they would do so again; for John P. Ballard has all the honorable impress and lordly hospitality in his heart that his face so plainly indicates. These are few of the many instances that have come under our own observation. In reading the advertising columns of this paper our readers may pick out any or all to pin their confidence to. We never advertise rat exterminating humbugs or trashy nostrums from the land of slap-jacks and pumpkin pies. Such "sells" are swept out with the dirt of the office.

A COMMON DECORATION FOR CONFEDERATE AND FEDERAL GRAVES.—Headquarters Post 19, Grand Army of the Republic, Department of Pennsylvania, May 14, 1868.

Comrades of Post 19: The day set apart (May 29) for decorating the graves of our fallen comrades will soon be here. * * * Wishing to bury forever the harsh feelings engendered by the war, Post 19 has decided not to pass by the graves of the Confederates sleeping in our lines, but to divide, each year between the blue and the gray the first floral offerings of a common country. We have no powerless foes. Post 19 thinks of the southern dead only as brave men. A. R. CALHOUN, Post Com'r.

Aug. H. Saurman, Adjutant.

The above is the first clear gush from the fount of reconstruction that we have ever felt like lapping. It speaks to the heart of the southern soldier. It discards all sectional hate and solders the "broken link" merely in plucking a flower to plant upon our comrades' graves. Let the soldiers of both sections mend the whole chain. We trust that wherever there is a decoration of the graves of the Union soldiers, that the "jacket of gray" may not be wanting in a proper respect for the men who died at the butt of the musket.

THE SOUL OF A BLASPHEMER.

It is so black; the inmost depths of my soul. Day never breaks there. All the time night. And when the ploughboy whistles in the morning, when the birds sing, and the young maidens shake the pearly water drops from their tresses—I am still dark! shut up in a dungeon of the blackness of midnight—ay, black as hell can be painted. Do I laugh? No. It is the shouting of a drunken man drunk with misery. But I curse. Ay, I revel in a curse! And when the worm gets done with my heart, my mouth shall be filled with everlasting curses that the devil and his demons curse. And yet I shall not be even then as happy (!) as I am on this earth. Oh me miserable!

Washington, May 22.—Mrs. Harriet Balch Macomb, wife of the General-in-chief of the United States army before General Scott, is dead, aged eighty-six years.

It is estimated that the forthcoming department statement will show a decrease of $7,000,000 with the receipts of the revenue, $18,000,000, and the customs receipts, $15,000,000.

The statement of the national banks show that there are 1,600 of them. Their loans and discounts are $659,000,000; specie, nearly $8,500,000; legal tender notes, $80,-500,000; three-per cent. certificates, $51,-000,000; capital stock, over $420,000,000.

FOREIGN NEWS.

FRANCE.

Londay, May 21.—Reports from Paris say that the elections in France continue to be attended with more or less disorder. Since the 12th instant one hundred and forty-nine persons have been arrested in Paris for creating political disturbances, and of these only seventeen have been discharged.

A popular demonstration was reported at Nismes, where the people sang the Marseillaise.

At Bourges, the prison was forced by a crowd of political agitators, and one of their leaders who had been arrested was released.

In the department of Aube, in the electioneering town of M. Perrire, a riot took place, in which blood was shed.

London, May 21.—The election excitement in Marseilles is very great. A private meeting was held there yesterday, at which Mr. Gambetta was present and made a strong speech.

The crowds in the streets sang the Marseillaise, and made other unlawful demonstrations. Many were arrested by the police. At Thiers disorders are reported. At an electoral meeting the people shouted "Vive Ledru Rollin," "Vive Barbes."

SPAIN.

Madrid, May 30.—Dispatches announce that two thousand adherents of Queen Isabella are at Persignia, France, nearly ready to cross the frontier. The Government is taking measures to prevent this invasion if possible.

SPAIN—A MONARCHY ADOPTED.

Madrid, May 22.—The Cortes has voted for a monarchy, after a long debate, by a vote of 217 to 70.

Torpete is in favor of Montpensier, but, as a Minister, desires to await the action of the Cortes. He cautions the Cortes against allowing any daring man to cut the knot which they are unable to untie.

Madrid, May 22.—A civil marriage bill has been introduced in the Cortes.

ENGLAND.

London, May 22.—The Times, discussing the Alabama claims, says England has equal cause for complaint against America. Great Britain resisted the temptation to recognize the South, thereby inflicting suffering on her own people, disobliging an ally, and in fact, declared in favor of the North, and is now misunderstood and accused of hostility and unselfishness.

RIOT IN IRELAND.

Dublin, May 20.—There was an ugly riot in Tralee yesterday, in which the police interfered, and were in turn attacked by both parties of rioters. The police fired on the people, and hurt many of them. Three policemen were wounded—one fatally.

TOBACCO STEMS WANTED.

AS Agent for a Foreign House, I am at all times prepared to pay the highest market price for Tobacco Stems, loose or pressed if pressed they should be in strong Hogsheads, to weigh not less than 1400 pressed straight, and free from scrap Tobacco or stems. Hillsborough, May 15,

Stealing about Milton.

From our Milton correspondent.

Last week some one broke open the tobacco barn of Mr. Thomas Watkins and stole about 500 lbs of Leaf Tobacco. No clue to the rogues

Last Saturday night some one broke open the tobacco barn of Robert Taylor and stole 300 lbs of tobacco.

Last Sunday evening some one stole a hog from Pattie Luster in Snatchburg, and she found it killed and hid in some bushes where it hadn't got cold.

Some one stole a hog from the Widow Stewart near the Red House. (Where is the LAW ! Ed.)

MARRIED.

In Milton Tuesday the 11th Inst. by John L. Staten Esq. Mr. John Dix to Miss Fannie Moore all of Pittsylvania county, Va.

THIS DAY (18TH.)

24 years ago, all the forward wheat was killed by a heavy frost. It is now cold enough for frost

Halifax — Va.

From our Milton correspondent.

One night last week some one broke into the Granary of Mr. Wilkins Bruce at his plantation some 8 miles from Milton, in Halifax county, Va., and stole 2 barrels of corn and 6 bushels of Peas. Abel Jackson, his manager, had just cleaned the peas ready for planting.

Thanks.

Mrs. H. N. Brown will pardon us for acknowledging after this manner a delicious strawberry treat we were made the recipient of at her generous hands, Oh! Anderson, how we wish you could have shared them with us. So large, rosy, tempting, juicy—'sakes alive! we see them in our dreams now.

Sad Suicide.

Mrs Brown—the wife of Allan Brown of this county—hung herself to a loom last Thursday. Mrs. Brown was a most estimable woman of some 55 years of age. Her mind had been out of its right channel for a few weeks—and once before she was prevented by her family from taking her life with a knife. On Thursday morning she got up soon, ground the coffee and called the family to breakfast. Soon after, she committed the rash act. Her worthy and afflicted husband, as well as the family, have the sympathy of all in this county.

Attempt at Suicide.

We are informed that a man named Crabtree living down in the neighborhood of Capt Lyons has recently made two attempts to take his life. One time he was lectured on the impropriety of the deed by an old negro man, and he desisted in the attempt But the next morning his wife was just in time to save him from hanging himself in the barn.

Strong Teeth.

Peter Jones, a tall, strapping, black man in this place, the other day lifted a barrel of leaf tobacco by the chime with his teeth, and straightening himself up, threw it over his head The barrel of tobacco weighed 55 pounds. It was done upon a wager, and was witnessed by several of our citizens.

Strange Cure for a Felon.

A relisble gentleman in this town requests us to publish the following cure for a bone felon which his mother has recently tried and vouches for.

He was nearly crazy—hadn't slept for several nights—with a felon on the little finger; went to Chapel Hill to see the doctor. The doctor split it open, told him to put on a lye poultice, and it would draw up in a few weeks. He went home; his finger didn't run any, and he still suffered the acutest pain. His mother told him to get a toad frog and put on it. He did so; and was immediately relieved. After two or three hours the belly of the toad was turned black and the frog fell off dead. The man fell into a sweet sleep and slept till evening. In the evening he got another toad and tied it around his finger He fell asleep and waking in the night he found the frog gone. The next morning he found the frog under his bed and swept it out doors where it died As for himself he went to hoeing corn that day. We can refer to some of the most correct citizens of our town for the truth of this statement.

A Serious Affair.

On Saturday evening about two hours after dark, Josh Booth, a white employee at the water tank of Abhams station, having been turned off by the agent, accused a very worthy man named Abner Fletcher of being privy to his dismissal. Fletcher denied the charge, but Booth continuing to abuse him—he knocked him down, remarking as he walked off, "Now behave yourself." Booth sprung to his feet drawing a knife followed Fletcher and cut him in several different places, stabbing him in the back to the hollow. It was dark and the crowd knew nothing of the knife till Fletcher cried out, "He is stabbing me he is killing me!" Booth is now in jail at this place. Fletcher is not expected to live.

Scene at a Church.

From our Mebanesville correspondent.

The Rev. (so called) Mr. Caulis, yankee teacher of a negro school at Mebanesville came to the Presbyterian Church a few minutes before service began—it being communion Sabbath. The Rev. Mr. Caulis took his seat, his wife on one side and a negro man on the other, in a pew among the whites. Murmurings and whispers among the congregation showed indignation on the rise towards rebellion. The Rev. Mr. Caulis frisked in his seat. In his no. 13's he stepped up to an officer of the church and proposed that the negro—though three fourths white and a perfect gentleman in his (Caulis) opinion—be allowed to leave the church. The officer replied that we did not choose to have negro equality forced upon us and that the negro should certainly not sit among the whites; that if he desired to hear preaching, he could be furnished with a seat outside where he could hear equally as well. This was accordingly done. In a short time several other negroes came up, but seeing the "three fourths white gentleman" sitting at the door, they indignantly turned on their heels and left. It was evidently a preconcerted plan by the Rev. Mr. Caulis (who wore the 13 shoes and frisked in his seat) to seat his negro equals among the whites.

Corrected.

In the "sheep piece" last week, an error occurred. Instead of "one sheep having twelve lambs" it should have been six sheep had twelve lambs.

Town Diary.

Velocipede rink at Cheek's shop

The ladies of the Presbyterian church intend holding a festival at the Masonic Hall on Friday night for the benefit of the church There will be a collection of nice refreshments on hand.

The Rev. H. G. Hill of Fayetteville preached an able sermon at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening. A highly complimentary notice of this young divine that appeared in the Henderson Index of a recent date does him no more than justice. Mr. H. is the son of W. R. Hill, formerly of Milton, but now of Richmond, who has raised a troop of boys and who has yet to raise a bad one.

☞ Milton Chronicle 4 weeks.

TO THOSE SUFFERING WITH PULMONARY DISEASE.

DR. THOMAS H. MILES, continues to treat Thoracic diseases by Topical Medication, or Catheterism of the air passages, conjoined with appropriate general remedies, as practiced by the late Prof. Green, of New York. The success attending this method of treating diseases of the lungs, is unparralleled, and the feasibility of the operation generally conceded. This treatment is almost a specific Bronchitis, Laryngitis, incipient Tuberculosis and Asthma. Numerous testimonials can be adduced from those who have been entirely relieved by the operation. His address is Mount Carmel, Halifax county, Va.

Near Yanceyville, Caswell co., N. C.

April, 1869.

This is to certify that I have been suffering for several years with chronic Bronchitis; attended with all the symptoms of incipient Consumption; during this period, I had frequent hemorrhages from the lungs. I also suffered greatly from enlarged Tonsils. I tried the usual remedies in such cases, but without satisfactory results. I finally concluded to try Dr Miles' treatment of cauterizing the air passages by injection. I remained under his treatment for six weeks. rejoice to say that I believe my lungs are entirely relieved. I will say that excision of the tonsils added greatly to my relief. I most cheerfully recommend this treatment to all persons similarly afflicted.

TOWN ORDINANCE.

AT a meeting of the Board of Commissioners of the town of Hillsborough, April 6, 1869, the following ordinance was passed:

Be it ordained, by the Commissioners of the town of Hillsborough, that no hog, shoat or pig shall be allowed to run at large within the corporate limits of the town of Hillsborough. The town constable shall take up and put in a pen every hog, shoat or pig found running at large within the corporation, and shall immediately advertise the same at the public scales, giving a proper description as to mark, color, &c. and setting forth that if said swine shall not be redeemed before the Saturday week next following, he will sell the same to the highest bidder. And if the owner of any stock taken up and impounded shall on or before the day of sale, (which shall always be the Saturday week next after taking up the said stock,) claim and prove any stock so advertised, he shall pay to the Town Constable upon delivery, if the owner reside in the corporation, fifty cents per head; and if outside of the corporation twenty-five cents per head and in either case ten cents per head additional for feeding said stock, for every day said stock shall remain in the pen after one day's notice. Every hog, shoat or pig not called for shall be sold at 12 o'clock on the day advertised.

The ordinance shall go into effect and be in force from and after the 10th day of May 1869.

Farm Yard Scraps.

Wild Lands in Tennessee are 6 cents an acre.

The Orange from the seed produces fruit in from 7 to 10 years.

The watermelon is produced in high perfection in Florida and at St. Augustine it matures as early as May.

In June the robin rears its young birds and is eminently beneficial. During this month a pair of these birds have been known to take to their family of four little young ones, in an hours' time, 40 grub worms and smooth caterpillars and a very few earth worms.

In July the robin is mostly injurious; because the young birds are out of their nests and they feed most entirely on ripe fruits and berries with now and then a few insects. The following memoranda are given of the birds' food; cherries, 4; worms, 2; berries, 2.

The potato was introduced into Europe in the sixteenth century by Sir Walter Raleigh, and has proved one of the greatest blessings bestowed upon man. Before the original elements were partially exhausted from the soil, 400 bushels of sound potatoes were an average yield per acre; now not half that amount. We must strive to return to the exhausted soil an equivalent for the original plant food.

Whether horses, cattle for market, dairy cows, sheep, or hogs, should be the chief stock for a farm, depends much on the location and condition of the farm, the number, age, strength, and taste of the family, and nearness and character of the market. A farmer having a strong, healthy wife, and several faithful boys, can better "run a dairy than one with a feeble wife and no children, for he would have to hire the milking, churning &c done.

For a hay crop, the land should be in good condition when seeded down. It is useless trying to raise a good crop of grass on land exhausted by previous crops. Land too wet for tillage should be often top dressed, if not annually overflowed. There is much loss by letting grass get too mature before cutting. Timothy should be cut before heading out; clover when in its first blossoms.

The best barns and blooded stock are without profit if the right kind and quantity of hay is not put into them.

A Kicking Cow.—Robert Kennicut, of Warren, R. I., gave the following directions as to how to manage her:

"Take a small chain, put it around her just back of the fore-legs and twist it. Every time she kicks add a turn or two with a stick; she will soon stand easy, and after a few trials will not need it at all. We consider it here a good thing, and, as far as I have heard, it is universally successful.

The same writer advised the application of sweet oil for warts on cows' teats. Apply twice a day.

Pieplant Poisons Porkers.—Mr. William E. Passmore, of Fairville Post Office, Pa. wrote as follows, "thinking the people might be interested in his latest experiment:"

"On April 23d I prepared for market twenty-five bunches of common rhubarb, or pieplant, by stripping the leaves from the stalks. These leaves, being rubbish, were thrown to the hogs, of which I had nine, of the white Chester County breed, which would have dressed 100 lbs. each. The result was, that five died, three are convalescent, and one is doubtful. They died with every symptom of being poisoned."

Oldest Woman's Club.—The broomstick.

A child was last week born in Indiana with wings. The little angel took its flight after three hours' stay in this wicked world.

A little boy, disputing with his sister recently, exclaimed: "It's true, for ma says so; and if ma says so, it is so, if it ain't so."

The last case of inebriety: A person was heard energetically declaring his fixed purpose to take his girl to see the picture of "Cress-ington Washing the Delaware!"

A printer's apprentice says that at the office they charge him with all the pi they do find, and at the house they charge him with all they don't find. He does not understand that kind of logic.

A Ferryman, while plying over a water which was only slightly agitated, was asked by a timid lady in his boat whether any persons were ever lost in that river. "Oh! no," said he, "we always finds 'em agin the next day."

A Quincy (Illinois) man asked Grant for an office, and Grant asked the man for his recommendation. Man produced a letter strongly recommending him to Johnson for the office, written and signed by U. S. Grant three years ago. The President smiled.

Black eyed ladies are said to be most apt to be passionate and jealous. Blue eyed—soulful, truthful, affectionate, and confiding. Gray eyed—philosophical, literary, resolute, and cold hearted. Hazel eyed—quick eyed, quick tempered, and fickle.

A little girl, walking silently by her father's side on a rainy night, was asked of what she was thinking, and she gave this beautiful answer: "I was thinking if the wrong side of heaven is so glorious, what must the right side be?"

They tell you in London the story of the Frenchman and Englishman who quarrelled. Both were unwilling to fight, but their friends put them up to it. At last it was agreed that they should fight alone; in the dark, with pistols. The candles were put out and the Englishman, to make sure not to hit any body, fired up the chimney and brought down the Frenchman.

On a Kentucky railroad recently while a train was passing through a tunnel a young man attempted to kiss a girl who sat in front of him, when she seized his hand and bit out a large piece. When the cars emerged, the young man, wrapping up his bleeding hand, explained to inquiring friends how the "window fell on it."

Donn Piatt has just been in New York. He went to one of the theatres, and saw a play called "The Tempest." "It was," he says, "the most appalling instance of the foundering of a canal-boat in a storm that was ever witnessed. I thought, while the shipwreck continued, of those touching lines of the Indiana bard telling of the loss of his broadhorn Susan Ann:

"She heaved and sot, an' sot and heaved,
And high her rudder flung,
And every time she heaved and sot
A bigger leak she sprung."

A Missouri paper says it knows of a girl there, who, "one night last summer, attended a ball, danced all night, went home in the morning, got breakfast, dinner and supper for ten harvest hands, did a two weeks' washing and the milking, made a calico dress, practised her music lessons, went blackberrying, gathered a gallon, walked to town in the evening to attend a concert, and walked home again before bed-time."

The finding of a young woman in the river of Jersey City having recently been announced more than a dozen mothers called to see if it might not be their missing daughters. In each case, the missing ones were between fifteen and eighteen years of age.

CAUTION! We desire to warn the dealers in, and consumers of snuff generally, that since the war, certain tobacco manufacturers, being unable to find a market for their snuffs, felt themselves obliged to counterfeit the general appearance of our packages, and imitate our Trade Marks, so that a close inspection is necessary to detect the spurious article from the genuine, and others going so far as to assert that "Lorillard's Snuff is no longer made."

In making this publication we desire to warn the public against the impositions practiced upon them; as they are the losers thereby. It will be found upon comparison that Lorillard's Snuff is "far ahead" of all others, being made of the best stock, after an original and secret process known only to ourselves, besides possessing great age, strength and pungency, and is warranted not to contain any dangerous or deleterious substances, which cannot be said of the many worthless articles put on sale by others. The best is the cheapest in the end. A circular will always be mailed on application. In ordering please specify if Salt Snuff (High Toast,) or Fresh Snuff (Extra Scotch) is desired.

A MOST WONDERFUL AND SUCCESSFUL INVENTION!
New Method of Washing Clothes without Labor.
THE AUTOMATIC
Clothes Washer and Boiler.
Awarded the highest Testimonial wherever Exhibited.
Rev. M. W. Staples, Inventor and Patentee.
THIS BOILER is self acting, and dispenses entirely with labor and the wear of clothes. The hot suds and steam by the action of fire, are driven up through tubes, poured upon the clothes, and forced through the fabric with astonishing rapidity, cleansing it perfectly without any rubbing. It has been thoroughly tested, and pronounced unequalled as a Clothes Washer, by those who have used it.
All fabrics, from the finest laces to the bed blanket can be washed perfectly and with ease and without the aid of the rubbing board. For Flannels it is invaluable, as the rubbing, rolling and pressing process must necessarily full them more or less.
It is truly a labor and clothes saving invention. Washing will no longer be a hardship, and washing day no longer a terror and a dread to housewives.
The invention can be used in any boiler, and the low price of the article places it within the reach of every family.
The saving in the wear of clothes will soon pay for the outlay.
It is estimated that 200 to 300 gallons of boiled suds pass through the clothes in thirty minutes; this being the longest time required for cleansing a boiler full of clothes.
Hundreds of these Boilers are being sold each week, giving perfect satisfaction.
Every boiler sold guaranteed to do all we claim, or money refunded.
The undersigned, as Agent for J. B. Hunter & Co., Portsmouth, Va., (who have the right for this State) has commenced the Manufacture of these Boilers and will furnish the citizens of Orange and Chatham, and will, as stated above, take back and refund money for any Boiler which fails to give perfect satisfaction, and do all claimed for it.
